Hi Linda

Thanks for the email.

I have emailed Ian Hawthorn asking he provide a steer on this proposal as I am more than a little concerned about the possible repercussions, if we were to agree this, from residents of Bridgeview. Once I get a response I will feed back to you.

Regards

Hi there,

Just some feedback for you about the route test today.

We used a 10.9 metre bus which is hybrid and will probably be the one used throughout this manoeuvre. We shouldn't need any parking bays suspended, and what I didn't realise is that other than residents, this road is one way only, so I don't think that there should be any problems with oncoming vehicles.

The one thing that we noticed while we were there was that vehicles were ignoring the no entry sign as attached and turning onto the A4. This may need additional signage to stop vehicles doing this manoeuvre, as we don't want to come face to face with other vehicles at this junction, also if you can put out a camera there maybe make some money with fines...

Another issue was that cyclists use this road as there is a crossing point across the A4, maybe signage advising of buses or 'Cyclist take care' would cover this, even with cyclist passing the bus got through OK though. For us this was a successful route test.

The buses are from approx.0530 to 0030 each day and approx.7/ 8 per hour and the night route is diverted via Fulham Palace Road. I can arrange for a residents letter to be produced and For you to take a look before we send out..

Hope this is OK for you both.

Many thanks

Lin
