Morning Lucy,

I can confirm that the RHA do not wish our comments to be considered as a formal objection that would necessitate a public inquiry.

Kind regards

Hi [REDACTED]

Glad you had a good weekend – it sounds like you’ve got the perfect excuse to book in a trip to Australia!

Thank you for your response yesterday regarding the TRO consultation.

A Public Inquiry is held if a formal objection to the proposal is received. As matters stand and on the basis that RHA’s response amounts to comment/suggestions rather than an objection, there are currently no formal objections to the proposed Amendment Order and therefore a Public Inquiry is not required.

Can you therefore please confirm that you do not wish your comments to be considered as a formal objection that would necessitate a public inquiry. We will of course ensure the London Councils’ Transport and Environment Committee as the order making authority consider your comments before deciding how to proceed with the scheme.

Please feel free to give me a call if you have any questions.

Kind regards

Lucy

Hi Lucy,

Weekend was busy as I brought my daughter back from Uni in Newcastle but lovely to have her home until she goes off to Australia for a year. Hope your weekend went well.

Apologies for missing your calls today.....it has been a bit manic.

Having spoken to [REDACTED], we confirm that whilst the RHA wouldn’t instigate a public inquiry into the TRO, we would participate if there were to be one.

Kind regards

Subject: TRO Consultation

Hi [REDACTED]

Hope you had a good weekend.

I wondered if it would be possible to get a steer today in regards to the RHA's response to the TRO consultation?

As mentioned, we have considered your response and comments to the consultation and do not consider it to amount to a formal objection to the Amendment Order.

It would be great if you could provide confirmation on the above.

Many thanks in advance,

Lucy
