A street scene in London, likely in the City of London, showing a mix of old and new architecture. On the left, there's a building with a green and orange facade. In the center, a red van is driving towards the camera, followed by a white van. On the right, a blue taxi is visible. Two black rectangular boxes are overlaid on the image: one on the left side of the road near a green and orange building, and another on the right side near a tall building and a black construction barrier.
