1. Standards and Regulations

1.1 The following Standards and national regulations are applicable;

- LUL Standard 1-312 A2 (formerly 2-03051-003) Automated Audio and Visual Information in public areas of stations and trains
- LUL Standard 5-315 A3 (formerly 2-03051-006) Audio and electronic visual information in public areas of stations and trains
- LUL Standard 1-180 A3 (formerly 2-01202-025) Standard for Rolling Stock
- Metronet Standard RSE-ST-03402-A2 Audio Communications System
- Metronet Standard RSE-ST-03403-A2 Visual Communications System
- Rail Vehicle Accessibility Regulations (RVAR)

Note: At present these scripts contain 'mind the gap' messages copied over from previous scripts and have not been checked against current platform plans. Also SDO messages have not been added. These will be included in the next draft.

2. Driver selectable 'one shot' messages

These are messages functioning as fixed general announcements of at least 20 seconds duration each as required by Standard RSE-ST-03402-A2 etc.

These are in addition to the service disruption messages. These general announcements will be both audio and visual.

The list of driver selectable 'one shot' messages that follows is based closely on the messages provided on the Refurbished D78 stock CIS.

LU to amend / expand this list up to 30 messages when handed draft of scripts.

LU to provide at least 2 messages specifically useful in the situation where the train is stalled in service and loadshed.

Note

All the internal and external destination indicators can also display the following message when the train is not running in passenger service;

Not in Service

This is selected by a dedicated Not in Service button, a soft key on the TCMS. When this is selected 'Not in Service' will be shown on all destination displays (train number will still be shown) all automatic audio and visual route messages will be suppressed and a 'Not in Service' '1 shot' message will be given audibly and visually (possibly No.4 from the pre-defined messages list). There is also a 'Not in service' hard wired switch, which will force the front display to show 'Not in Service', this is meant to be used under failure conditions.

3. Station Skip

This is a brief explanation of the functionality of Station skip

Whether it is done manually by the driver pressing a soft key on the HMI or automatically will not make any difference to the functionality, only the timing of when it is selected. We have to make the assumption that it will be selected at the previous station. When selected it will not make any difference to the 'next station' announcement as we cannot guarantee that the station skip will be selected in time to change this. Any changes to this part of the message will be done through the disruption messages.

Here is what it will do.

The between station message will be corrected to 'The next station is [the station after the closed station]' and

The approach station message will be replaced with 'This train is not stopping at [closed station] the next station is [the station after the closed station].

Obviously as the train does not stop at the station there will be no message at the station.

Once the train has gone past the stopped station the between message for next station will be triggered as normal and the approach station message for the next station is triggered as normal.

If the station skip is done manually and it is selected some time after leaving the previous station it will only be able to do part of this, but would still be able to be selected.

If skip station is selected and for some reason the train does stop at the station and open the doors, the routine 'at station' messages will play at that station.

4. SDO messages

Messages that are played when there is a short platform are shown as an example on the Metropolitan line scripts but have not yet been included elsewhere as it has not yet been finalised at which stations these messages will play. At the moment it is envisioned that there may be 6 different types of SDO message

‘This station / The next station has a short platform. The rear doorway will not open here / there. Please use the other doorways’

‘This station / The next station has a short platform. The rear two doorways will not open here / there. Please use the other doorways’

‘This station / The next station has a short platform. All doorways in this car will not open here / there. Please move down into the next car and use the other doorways’

‘This station / The next station has a short platform. The rear 4 doorways in this train will not open here / there. Please use the other doorways’

‘This station / The next station has a short platform. The front doorway will not open here / there. Please use the other doorways’

‘This station / The next station has a short platform. The front two doorways will not open here / there. Please use the other doorways’

This is a first stab at what these messages should be please comment on them. Note they will be car specific.

Note also that on a train there may be one of these messages playing at one end of a train while another is playing at the other end.

5. Route change

When a route is changed before the current route has ended a special message will be given automatically.

The proposed script for this message is ‘This train is now a [line designation] line train to [destination]. Please remain on this train and change where necessary.’.

Note that this will also happen when changing from a Circle line route which never ends to another route, I believe that it will still be relevant in this case.
