Garrett and Tom,

Thank you for taking the time to chat with me and the team last week. As I mentioned, we interact with regulatory bodies the world over and TfL has always been among the more professional and forward-looking we've engaged with. In the context of a world where there is pressure from competitors I find that fact quite comforting. I'm also glad we were able to provide clarity as to the function of the app and the iPhone as it relates to existing legislation, specifically that neither functions as a meter. If, after Jo and Zac finalize their conversations with your compliance staff, there remain any outstanding questions, please let me know and I'll gladly do what I can to get you answers.

Best wishes,

Corey Owens
