Hi [REDACTED]

Thanks for exploring the option at least, ultimately I expected that to be the answer. I do think there is a case for much wider enforcement, appreciating that designing out speeding is more desirable not remotely affordable in every location where speeding is an issue. Do you have a timeline on the updated criteria? Would be good for us to include reference to this in our Road Danger Reduction action plan.

Hi [REDACTED]

I've had a discussion with our wider team about your request. At the present time, this is not an option. We are committed to improving and expanding the network and want to ensure that this is harm led so that cameras go to the locations with the highest risk and maximum benefit in terms of safety, as well as addressing community concerns and localised issues. A process whereby boroughs fund their own cameras for TfL/MPS to operate could lead to a 'bidding war' where those with the most funds are able to get the most number of cameras, so we would need to consider this carefully if it was ever to be an option to ensure it was fair and equitable. When we do reinvigorate the camera criteria, we will involve boroughs in this key piece of work.

In the interim, we really encourage the use of the London Borough speed referral process - which Mobile enforcement is a really effective way of deterring speeding as it is flexible and can be deployed at any time, meaning drivers will need to remain vigilant. Fixed cameras are also a really effective means however, with regards to Cllr Cavanagh's comments about wanting to deter speed on more than just small sections of the road, it may be that a fixed camera is not the best means to achieve this anyway, as in some locations drivers can become complacent about it and adjust speed for that small section where it is located. We would need to consider all the factors before installation of a fixed camera if that were to be a possibility to ensure the most effective means of enforcement.

I'm aware this would be disappointing and appreciate you finding out if it is a possibility, but we do need to ensure consistency and fairness across all boroughs and for a system that assesses harm and risk across all London locations.

Kind regards

Hi [REDACTED]

We are currently undertaking essential preparatory work to expand London's safety camera network as part of our Vision Zero plans to reduce speed and speed related collisions in the capital. This work includes implementation of offence processing technology, recruitment of enforcement staff, and exploring new camera technology to ensure that we are investing in the best and most cost-effective systems for the future. We are ensuring we have all the necessary elements in place before rolling out new camera sites.

Once we are in a position to expand the network, we will prioritise locations for safety cameras, using a methodology developed in consultation with boroughs and London Councils pre-pandemic. We need to do this to take account of any changes in travel projections and road user behaviour, as well as the significant changes made to road layouts during the pandemic.

While this is being undertaken, we would encourage local authorities with roads that has excessive speeds to explore engineering measures that can help to reduce speeds where funding is available.

Kind regards

Dear [REDACTED],

Thanks for your work on this. Cllr Cowell and I would like it noted that whilst speed reduction measures to small sections of the road would be very welcome we do still believe there is a very strong case for a speed camera and we will continue to push for this to be part of the solution.

Many thanks

Hi Cllr Cowell,

I went on a site visit with [REDACTED] of the Roads Policing Unit (and copied here). There are several 20mph roundels (painted "20" on the road surface, and several 20mph signs. Ultimately, the street design on Croxted Road does encourage higher speeds with a very wide carriageway, although we noted that the average speeds were not very high, compared to other locations. As we have limited resources, I am going to focus my attention on relocating one of our existing speed indicator signs to this location.

█ noted that this section below in particular would be encouraging speeding. The double yellow lines are here to ensure proper sight lines out of the estate, but they do also mean the carriageway is very wide. I have logged this location for our consideration as part of the new Road Danger Reduction strategy.

CLlr Cowell

I can confirm that our TMO has met with [REDACTED] at the location and has given some observations for Lambeth borough to consider.

Since the beginning of May our LaserCam team has deployed to Croxted Road on 9 separate occasions, identifying 194 speeding vehicles, with a non-compliance rate of 10.93%. Prior to our meeting we were seeing a non-compliance rate of 15.66% so I would like to think the overt enforcement action has had some temporary effect on the levels of speeding. I outlined in our meeting that enforcement activity is not sustainable from a police resourcing perspective.

I hope that the observations that [REDACTED] has taken away from the site visit will enable Lambeth borough to consider other options as a long term solution.

Kind Regards

Hi All

I just wanted to check in as a month has passed since the meeting. I know that further monitoring was taking place.

I wanted to know whether there had been

- Any further data about Croxted Road speeds.
- Any site visit of the area
- Any other relevant updates

The residents are really keen for an update. W
